Solicitors and staff at Phillips raised well over £200 on Friday 20th November for the Children in Need charity which supports disadvantaged children and young children across the UK. They dressed down for the day; ran competitions of pictures 'Through the keyhole'; ate mountains of 'bring and buy' cakes; enjoyed a 'continental' lunch; and a raffle for gifts including a massive Christmas hamper won by Alex Hooker, pictured; and much, much more. But what raised the most money was the 'auction of promises' held at lunchtime - members of staff contributed promises for such things as offering to taxi staff home after the Christmas party and work someone's Saturday rota.

Howard Gardener, senior partner, commented: 'Raising money for disadvantaged young people is really important and to have fun whilst doing it is highly motivational.'
