Phillips' staff do some funny things for money

Phillips lawyers and support staff did some funny things to raise well over £235 for the Red Nose Day on Friday 13th March. Dressing up in red was the theme of the day but the highlight was a children's party lunch complete with jellies and of course red nose cakes.

Staff devised their own children's games and had hilarious fun with a 'touchy feely' competition, pass the parcel, pin the nose on a partner and a quiz. Other fundraising fun included a sponsored silence of a vociferous family lawyer, Angel readings, funny caption competition and a school photo competition.

Howard Gardener, senior partner and quizmaster extraordinaire commented: 'Having fun together to raise money for Comic Relief unites our teams in trying to make a difference to the lives of thousands of people.'
