

Solicitors cut some capers to raise money for Comic Relief March 2007

Not content with the usual fundraising efforts, members of staff at Phillips Solicitors ran a series of special events during this eleventh Red Nose Day, after 21 years of Comic Relief. They had a 'sponsored silence' all morning for one of the most vociferous members of staff; a hilarious lunchtime game of 'Just a minute', all the usual cakes and raffles; and a 'dare' for the office junior to be transformed from a masculine Simon into a made-up, rather lovely 'Simone'! More money was raised when Simone was challenged to walk all round Phillips' building in full drag! Senior partner Howard Gardener said: 'Superb efforts all round raised nearly £500 for Comic Relief, which the partners have matched pound for pound for this worthy cause.'
